Tech Tip

What is all the hype about the big TV change coming February 17, 2009?

Broadcast of Analog TV signals in this country stops that date - transmissions will be digital only from that day forward. Why? - the FCC is reallocating the frequency bands used in Analog transmission for other purposes.

Who is affected? - Households that receive VHF-TV through antennas primarily. There will be inexpensive convertor boxes available so that sets without digital tuners can be used. The government is offering $40 vouchers (up to 2 per household) to help offset the cost of these convertors. They are available now and can be obtained from online at www.dtv2009.gov. Cable and Dish users will not be affected.
